CASE NO. 8:03CR518

MEMORANDUM AND ORDER

Before the court is Filing No. 72, the Notice of Appeal filed by the defendant, Rigiberto Hernandez-Rodriquez, who appeals the Memorandum and Order (Filing No. 70) and Judgment (Filing No. 71) denying his Motion Under 28 U.S.C. § 2255 to Vacate, Set Aside, or Correct Sentence by a Person in Federal Custody ("§ 2255 motion"). Also before me is Filing No. 73, the Memorandum from the Clerk of Court requesting a decision regarding whether the defendant may proceed in forma pauperis ("IFP") on appeal. The record indicates that the defendant has previously been determined to be financially unable to obtain an adequate defense in a criminal case. Fed. R. App. P. 24(a)(3) states:

(a) Leave to Proceed in Forma Pauperis....

(3) Prior Approval. A party who was permitted to proceed in forma pauperis in the district-court action, or who was determined to be financially unable to obtain an adequate defense in a criminal case, may proceed on appeal in forma pauperis without further authorization, unless the district court-- before or after the notice of appeal is filed--certifies that the appeal is not taken in good faith or finds that the party is not otherwise entitled to proceed in forma pauperis. In that event, the district court must state in writing its reasons for the certification or finding.

I conclude that pursuant to Fed. R. App. P. 24(a)(3), the petitioner may proceed IFP in this appeal, as the appeal is taken in good faith.

In addition, before the defendant may appeal the denial of his § 2255 motion, a “Certificate of Appealability” must issue. Pursuant to the Antiterrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act of 1996 (“AEDPA”), the right to appeal the denial of a § 2255 motion is governed by the certificate of appealability requirements of 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c). 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c)(2) provides that a certificate of appealability may issue only if the applicant has made a substantial showing of the denial of a constitutional right:

(c)(1) Unless a circuit justice or judge issues a certificate of appealability, an appeal may not be taken to the court of appeals from—

(B) the final order in a proceeding under section 2255.

(2) A certificate of appealability may issue under paragraph (1) only if the applicant has made a substantial showing of the denial of a constitutional right.

(3) The certificate of appealability under paragraph (1) shall indicate which specific issue or issues satisfy the showing required by paragraph (2).

28 U.S.C. § 2253(c).

A “substantial showing of the denial of a federal right” requires a demonstration “that reasonable jurists could debate whether (or, for that matter, agree that) the petition should have been resolved in a different manner or that the issues presented were adequate to deserve encouragement to proceed further.” Slack v. McDaniel, 120 S.Ct. 1595, 1603-1604 (2000), citing Barefoot v. Estelle, 103 S. Ct. 3383, 3394 (1983) (which defined the former standard for a certificate of probable cause to appeal) (internal quotation marks omitted). “Where a district court has rejected the constitutional claims on the merits, the showing required to satisfy § 2253(c) is straightforward: The defendant must demonstrate that reasonable jurists would find the district court's assessment of the constitutional claims debatable or wrong." Slack, 120 S.Ct at 1604.

Upon review and consideration of the record and the applicable law, the court concludes that the defendant has failed to demonstrate that reasonable jurists would find this court's ruling debatable or wrong. Therefore, for the reasons stated in Filing No. 70, a certificate of appealability will not issue.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED:

1. That a Certificate of Appealability (Filing No. 72) is denied;
2. That defendant may proceed IFP on appeal;
3. That the Clerk of Court shall provide a copy of this Order to the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals; and
4. That a copy of this order shall be mailed to the defendant at his last known address.

DATED this 7th day of August, 2006.

BY THE COURT:

s/Laurie Smith Camp
United States District Judge
